Description
When a composer is open, it is possible to duplicate it through Composer menu. It would be nice to have the ability to also rename it, without having to open Composer Manager.

@Giovanni, I remark that you have now to manually set closed issues' resolution to fixed/implemented? Is this a bug? I thought this information was also set when the commit is merged (besides % of realisation and status). Or it has always been like that and I did not pay attention?

I don't remember how it was before upgrading Redmine and moving to the new server. I don't mind doing it manually, maybe in Madeira we can see if it can be done automatically.

I gave a quick look to elder reports and indeed the resolution wasn't set. So no bug there.
Thanks for filling information.
