Description

Hi,

I tested the new qgis 2.4 feature "Label features multiple times" on the attached layer, but it doesn't work.

To test it:

1) Label with field: "desvia"

2) enable "merge connected lines to avoid duplicate labels" option

3) put any value on "repeat"

4) no label is repeated (see the road "VIA GIUSEPPE VERDI", for example, that is a long road)

- Priority changed from Normal to Severe/Regression

Putting it to Blocker since it's a new feature of 2.4 that is not working

#2 - 2014-06-20 01:58 AM - Giovanni Manghi

- Subject changed from "Label features multiple times" doesn't work to "Label features multiple times" doesn't work if "merge connected lines to avoid duplicate labels" is active

- Category set to Labelling

- Status changed from Open to Feedback

- Affected QGIS version changed from 2.2.0 to master

it works if "merge connected lines to avoid duplicate labels" is not active, make kind of sense to me(?).

#3 - 2014-06-20 02:47 AM - luca76 -

the point is that in the "Visual changelog for 2.4" http://changelog.linfiniti.com/qgis/version/2.4.0/

it states that:

"This also works in combination with the "merge connected lines to avoid duplicate labels" option."

Hi,

This is addressed here: https://github.com/qgis/QGIS/pull/1395

Looking into whether it can be pushed (after reviewing) before 2.4 release.

I would very much appreciate if this patch could be applied. We paid for this feature - so we have an interest that it works properly.

Thanks for reviewing!

I have not heard a 'no' from my question as to whether the pull request can be pushed for 2.4, so I will review it tonight with intentions of pushing it to current master.
