Description
When an attribute table is added to the print composer and atlas printing is on, it would be very helpful to have a button to align the table left or right so it stays put even though there might be different column sizes in different pages of the atlas. For text fields, this function exists under "Alignment" > horizontal and vertical, for scalebar it's under "Show" > Alignment (not 100% sure about the terms since I'm using QGIS in German...)
