Description
It would be very helpful and very nice to have the option to define a SLD-URL in conjunction with WMS connection info.

History

It would nice to have support for sld_body, this way styling for wms layers could be made directly in qgis using the style editor and eliminating the requirement to store the style file in a public visible ip address.

Got this when trying to build your patch against .

sipcoreQgsRasterLayer.cpp: In function 'PyObject* meth_QgsRasterLayer_setDataProvider(PyObject*, [[PyObject]]*)':
sipcoreQgsRasterLayer.cpp:1794: error: no matching function for call to 'QgsRasterLayer::setDataProvider(const QString&, const QStringList&, const QStringList&, const QString&, const QString&)' /home/timlinux/dev/cpp/qgis/src/core/raster/qgsrasterlayer.h:374: note: candidates are: void [[QgsRasterLayer]]::setDataProvider(const QString&, const QStringList&, const QStringList&, const QString&, const QString&, const QString&, const QString&) maker3: * [sipcoreQgsRasterLayer.o] Error 1
maker2: [python/core/core.so] Error 2

Support for sld_body is still missing.

There was a lot of changes to providers classes from the day the attached patches was written, it's unlikely that they can still be applied.

This way styling for was layers could be made directly in qgis using the style editor and eliminating the requirement to store the style file in a publicly visible IP address.
