Description

Based on discussions on the mailing list about how to better integrate the all the qgis community tools I suggest the following tasks to bring forums/mailing list together as one via nabble and to make that reachable as part of the qgis.org realm.

1. Include nabble embedded forum of the mailing list inside website. http://www.nabble.com/help/Answer.jtp?id=36
2. Redirect forum.qgis.org to this page
3. Archive the current forum at old-forum.qgis.org as read only until we find a way to glean the useful stuff out of it.

If we need to contact the OSGeo admin for nabble to get the embed link let me know and I'll request it.

I'm against this. In my experience, having MLs under Nabble causes a series of issues.
