Affected QGIS version: 2.0.1	Regression?: No

Crashes QGIS or corrupts data:	Copied to github as #: 17421
Description
When double clicking on a table/file/layer to add it from its respective dialog, one of several possible things happens: Add Vector Layer: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Double clicking a file closes the "Open an OGR supported Vector Layer" dialog but keeps open the "Add vector layer" dialog. Add Raster Layer: <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Double clicking a raster closes the dialog and adds the file immediately to QGIS. Add Oracle / SpatiaLite tables (maybe the other databases too?) <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Double clicking a table brings up a "Query Builder" for that table. Add WMS and Add WCS <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Double clicking does nothing. Add WFS <ul style="list-style-type: none">- Opens up "Expression string builder" dialog To me at least this is very wrong. They should all behave in the exact same way when I double click something. Personally I'd say the raster way is the correct one - that's how all other applications work when I double click something to add, be it a GIS or a text editor or anything. I appreciate why opening query/expression builders may be useful, but I don't think it should be the default action on double-clicking.
