Not sure the informations in the wiki were for any reporter (looks more advanced). We no longer use wiki for docs matters whatever. See http://docs.qgis.org/testing/en/docs/documentation_guidelines/index.html if you want to contribute on writing and in this case you need to learn a bit some of those languages. If it's just about reporting issues, do it at https://github.com/ggis/QGIS-Documentation/issues as stated in https://github.com/ggis/QGIS-Documentation/issues as stated in https://github.com/ggis/QGIS-Documentation/issues as stated in https://github.com/ggis/QGIS-Documentation/issues as stated in https://github.com/ggis/QGIS-Properties

So, is there a single contact point where to report comments ?

Some way to find easily in a few seconds the link to https://github.com/qgis/QGIS-Documentation (I found the link on https://issues.qgis.org/wiki/quantum-gis/Manual Writing) or any more appropriate page, without having to search via the whole site.

I think links like http://qgis.org/en/site/getinvolved/document.html#write-documentation or http://qgis.org/en/site/getinvolved/development/bugreporting.html#website-and-documentation-s-reports are enough easy to find now

For instance, to have one « dyslexical » writing be corrected here in the page README http://www.qgis.org/en/docs/documentation_guidelines/README.html

Fixed now

Is there a single file version - for instance in PDF format - of the documentation ?

Yes, this kind of page: http://docs.qgis.org/2.14/pdf/

In the page https://issues.qgis.org/projects/quantum-gis/issues

if I add the filter Category then in the menu Category, my choice is not applied automatically. I have to refresh my screen using the link...
