Juste made some tests with stable release 2.2:

- it work fine with on Ubuntu 13.10
- still not on Windows 7

For information, when using another link like <http://www.google.com/>, it works fine on both OS.

Just to be sure: Are you sure that there is no problem regarding proxy/dns etc?

Apart from this, I will be refactoring the editor widgets soon (In May, so part of 2.4) and therefore don't think it's worth investing time in the old editor widgets meanwhile. I definitely will be happy if you can test the new widgets when they are ready.

Yes, because if put only <http://www.camac.vd.ch/> it works... It's very strange, can you reproduce it?

Ok, that's a good news. Sure, I can test the new widgets when they're ready. I'll be at the QGIS-CH user group meeting this week, maybe we can talk about that.

No. I'm on a Linux machine, so this might be it.

Yep, sure. I'll be there as well.

The Web-View and Photo widgets are still not working in 2.4 and 2.6
